Client faced remediation necessities pertaining to wireless design with flaws in the WLAN. Several distribution centers were unable to communicate properly and function seamlessly as the peak season approached. The business was at a potential critical failure without proper design and redeployment of these distribution centers LAN, WAN, and WLAN.

The retailer was frustrated with the incumbent solution provider after months of unsuccessfully trying to identify why the wireless solution that they installed wasn't working properly. Monreal IT was able to quickly and correctly identify the root cause and provide an immediate actionable solution.

Employing worldwide resources, Monreal IT quickly identified and delivered a fully installed and configured solution to aid the retailer into a productive and successful peak season.

This client no longer deals with lost time due to disrupted associate inventory transactions and can now rely on its network infrastructure to carry out day to day distribution center business.
