Our client was under immense pressure to deploy a beta business system aimed at gaining radical efficiency at their production facilities. While the development and planning of the business system and its overall rollout was outstanding, the need for having an adequate wireless system in place was overlooked.

With deadlines fast approaching, the client was in need of rapid wireless deployment across multiple locations. The complexity of the situation was heightened by the fact that there are limited vendors capable of deploying a wireless solution in a Class I, Division 1 hazardous environment.

Monreal IT worked with multiple business units, including IT, to deliver a wireless solution capable of safely functioning in a hazardous environment. Monreal IT was able to meet the demanding timeline of the customer and deliver this solution across multiple locations.

As a result of engaging with Monreal IT the desired business outcome was achieved and the client was ecstatic to complete and deploy a fully functional project by their impending deadline.
